Regarding Historic Society's meeting on Wed, Sept 22: Just learned about plans to remove existing building and start over. An issue has come up about restrooms and that redesigning them for access from the outside would be possible now. Public restrooms are important in our town and this seems like an opportunity to create them. Then you would have visitors coming into the museum who are actually interested in visiting the museum and not the general public tracking through just to use the facilities. Town would be able to provide a valuable service and allow a quieter indoor space. Too bad Stephen Roth's restroom building couldn't be relocated, right? Would there be plans to have a small, private restroom inside for people working there? Thankyou, Donna Holt
