

From Mayor Bruno

A FOCUS ON LOCAL AMENITIES

During my mayoral campaign last year, I talked about my desire to enhance the "resident experience" in Springdale. I know we will always have to go into Hurricane or St. George for things like shopping at Costco and specialized medical care (cardiology, oncology, etc.). However, I felt like we should not have to go down the hill for everything.

To that end, I have been working on bringing some amenities into Springdale. We are making progress on getting fiber optics to every resident, improving Verizon and AT&T service in Town and eliminating the Verizon dead zone between LaVerkin and Rockville, preserving our long-term housing, creating some workforce housing so employees of our businesses can live in our community, and finding a location for an enhanced medical clinic. I will talk about those items individually in future newsletters.

This month, I am happy to announce that FedEx has placed a drop box in Springdale. It is located at the Bumbleberry building. We no longer must pay for a personal pickup or drive to Hurricane to ship our FedEx packages. The pickup time is 1:30 p.m.

Transient Lodging Ordinance Updates

The Town Council adopted new regulations for transient lodging in July of this year. The new regulations are intended to preserve a balance between transient lodging and other non-lodging uses in the commercial zones and to protect the residential zones from the impacts of transient lodging. The Town's new framework for regulation of transient lodging does the following:

- 1- Requires all new transient lodging to be approved through a zone change process to the Transient Lodging Overlay (TLO) zone. The TLO zone can only be applied on properties already in either the Village Commercial or Central Commercial zones. Transient lodging continues to be prohibited in residential zones.

Protect Zion Archeology

Zion National Park is host to unique archeological artifacts that help connect us with the long human history of Southwest Utah. In order to protect this special history, the National Park Service is closing a well-known site at Cave Valley (near Lambs Knoll). Many visitors traveling to the site are disturbing this sensitive area, so the National Park Service is working to make a plan to reopen it in a way that it will be protected.

Please help the National Park Service steward the closed area by:

- Referring visitors to other archeological sites or to see artifacts at the Zion Human History Museum.
- Not entering the area that is signed as closed.
- Reminding visitors that they may receive a citation if they enter any closed area.

If you have questions about the closure or how you can help protect archeological sites, please contact jonathan_shafer@nps.gov.

Wreaths Across America

On Saturday, December 17th starting at 10:00am community members will have an opportunity to participate in the Wreaths Across America program at the Jolley-Gifford Cemetery. This is the 4th year Springdale will join in this national event the purpose of which is to remember the fallen, honor those who have served, and teach the value of freedom. Family members and locals will help place beautiful evergreen wreaths on identified Veteran grave sites.

We have a very special program planned and hope to see a wonderful turn out to honor our Veterans. If you have questions, please call Darci Carlson at 435-772-3434.

Art is Electric in Springdale!

The public art project to wrap several electrical boxes throughout Town is underway! If you were unable to attend the August 25th informational session, another has been scheduled at the CCC for Thursday, November 17th from 5:00 pm – 6:00 pm. Come learn about important deadlines, how to submit your artwork, and what the Art Review Board will use as criteria for selection. You can find additional details about the project on the Town's website by searching art is electric. Email us at springdale.public.art@gmail.com with additional questions. All artist levels are welcome!

What is a talking stick?

The talking stick, also called a speaker's staff, is an instrument of aboriginal democracy used by many tribes, especially those of indigenous peoples of the Northwest Coast in North America.

The talking stick may be passed around a group, as multiple people speak in turn

- 2- Differentiates between hotel-style lodging and short-term rental-style lodging, and establishes different standards for both.
- 3- Requires new transient lodging to additionally include a non-lodging mixed-use component. No property may be developed for purely lodging purposes. The code includes a list of approved non-lodging uses that can be used to satisfy this requirement, and a property owner can change the non-lodging use from time to time.
- 4- Limits the number of short-term rental lodging facilities that can be developed in any given area of the Town.
- 5- Requires owners of property in the TLO zone to record a restrictive covenant against the property that stipulates the operational standards for transient lodging.
- 6- Limits the total number of transient lodging applications the Town accepts to five applications per year.

The Town has received five applications for the TLO zone on various properties throughout the Town. Two of these have been approved, one denied, and the others are still in review.

Based on the experience of processing and reviewing these first five applications for the TLO zone the Planning Commission and Town Council will be considering refinements and clarifications to the TLO zone. The Commission and Council will be determining which aspects of the TLO zone have worked well, which could be clarified, which need to be revised, and whether any additional standards should be included.

The Commission and Council will be meeting in a joint work session on Wednesday, November 2 to discuss these issues. If you have any suggestions for the Commission and Council to consider regarding revisions or clarifications to the TLO zone, please submit written comments to Thomas Dansie at tdansie@springdale.utah.gov.

I want to thank the CEO of FedEx, (who immediately responded positively to my email), Richard Miller, the Regional Operations Manager for FedEx, and Stan Smith, who said yes to placing the box at his business without hesitation. I also contacted UPS's CEO and local managers, but they have declined my request for a UPS drop box.

Please consider using FedEx when you choose a shipping option. The drop box must be "productive" so that we retain it in Town.

Thank you.

Springdale Parks News

Winterizing your irrigation system begins by shutting off the water supply. Insulate backflow preventers and valves if they are above ground. Make sure not to cover any air vents. This can be done by using household insulation or wrapping it with insulation tape. Make sure to blow out any remaining water in the line to prevent any cracking or breaking of the sprinkler lines or sprinkler heads. Finally, make sure your clocks are turned off or to 'rain' mode to prevent them from trying to turn on when the water is off.
