

TOWN OF SPRINGDALE

Public Office

I want to thank the Town of Springdale for their support in the November 4 general election. I look forward to serving for the next four years and appreciate the confidence shown in me and the two incumbent Council members, Jack Burns and Randy Aton.

I had a column ready to run this month that talked about the election, but I saw this on the Elected Women of Utah site and thought it was more beautifully written. The author is Jessica Egbert, PhD, who is a Council member in Mapleton, Utah. I have her permission to reprint it here. I hope it resonates with you like it did me.

"Running for public office is one of the hardest things a person can do.

It's deeply personal, frequently thankless, and emotionally exhausting.

Imagine being judged by thousands of people at once - many of whom have never met you - for decisions made in a role that's often part-time, pays very little, and exists purely because you care enough to serve your community.

Simply put: it sucks.

Across Utah, this election season has been raw. Social media has amplified outrage, rumor, and division to the point where we've lost the muscle memory of civility. We've mistaken indignation for engagement - and that makes me concerned for our future pipeline of civic leaders.

Emergency Preparedness Tip: Check Your Property Address Posting

The faster first responders can locate the scene of an emergency the better the chance for a positive outcome. You can help first responders maintain the fastest possible response times by ensuring that your property has an address identification that can be seen from the road or street. Make sure to maintain landscaping to prevent blocking the view of address identification and check regularly to ensure a clear view of address numbers. This will make it as easy as possible for emergency response personnel to locate in an emergency.

The building code requires all properties to post building addresses. The purpose of this code is to help ensure the fastest possible response times to an emergency. Please review your property address posting for compliance with this code.

International Building Code Section 502- Building Address

502.1 Address Identification. New and existing buildings shall be provided with approved address identification. The address identification shall be legible and placed in a position that is visible from the street or road fronting the property. Address identification characters shall contrast with their background. Address numbers shall be Arabic numbers or alphabetical letters. Numbers shall not be spelled out. Each character shall be a minimum of 4" high with a minimum stroke width of 1/2 inch. Where required by the fire code official, address identification shall be provided in additional approved locations to facilitate emergency response. Where access is by means of a private road and the building address can not be viewed from a public way, a monument, pole or other approved sign or means shall be used to identify the structure. Address identification shall be maintained.

Yet, there's another path.

We can choose curiosity instead of criticism.

- Curiosity about candidate positions.
- Curiosity about why others might feel differently.
- Curiosity to question what we hear before passing it along.

Behind every campaign sign and ballot name is a human being - someone's neighbor, coworker, or friend - doing their best to contribute to something bigger than themselves.

Elections come and go. But the character of a community is built every day - in how we treat one another (and especially when we disagree)."

If you ran a negative campaign, you're part of the problem. If you used social media, a mailer, or a "newspaper" to attack candidates for office, you're also part of the problem. There's no honor in holding old grudges, telling lies, cheating, calling people names, harassing Town staff, or being mean-spirited to other members of this community.

I know Springdale is better than this, and I look forward to more kindness in future elections.
